Fine and cold. The maximum temperature yesterday was 63.9 and the minimum 45.1, the figures for the corresponding day last year being 68.4 and 37.9.

RULES MADE FOR NATIONS SEEKING TO JOIN LEAGUE

Viviani Forms List Of Four Requirements For Membership

ARMENIA IN PERIL

Belgian Delegate Asserts People On Verge Of Destruction

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, November 22.—Before the fifth commission appointed by the League of Nations, which is charged with consideration of the admission of new States to the League, states the Matin, M. Viviani has made the following proposition:

"No new state shall be admitted to the League until it has satisfied these four requirements:

(1). The state must have met all its international obligations;

(2). The state must have organisation such as will assure the League of its fulfilling all the obligations of the Covenant;

(3). The state must have a responsible government which is competent to enter into agreements on its behalf;

(4). The state must have definite frontiers and its population bear the character of a nation."

After brief deliberation, the commission, which includes representatives of all the Powers, adopted the proposal unanimously. The Matin says that Mr. H. A. L. Fisher, representing Great Britain, was among the first to give it their support.

Geneva, November 20.—A feature of today's meeting of the League of Nations was the remarkable utterance of M. Lafontaine, the Belgian delegate, upon the question of armaments, from which nightmare, he said, all peoples were agreed that the world must be delivered.

ARMIES FOR JUSTICE

Nevertheless, the time for disarmament had not yet come, but war must henceforth be considered a curse. Armies must now be at the disposition of justice, as one great international army. M. Lafontaine exclaimed in moving accents, "Armenia is on the point of destruction in the presence of an assemblage of nations which controls millions of soldiers."

He suggested the appointment of a commission to examine into the question and appealed to those nations which had suffered least from the war, to furnish "soldiers of justice" as the nucleus of an international army. If they made no effort, he said, universal execration would be meted out to the League of Nations

M. Lafontaine's speech was greeted with a storm of cheers, and cries of "Bravo" from the public galleries.

PLEPISCITE FORMED

Geneva, November 22.—The Council of the League of Nations met again yesterday afternoon with M. Hymans in the chair. It devoted itself to organisation of the plebiscite in the territory which is in dispute between Poland and Lithuania.

Mr. Leon Bourgeois was back in his place, after his recent indisposition.

ARMENIA DISCUSSED

Shanghai, November 23.—The following official French wireless message transmitted by the Bordeaux Wireless Station was received by the French Municipal Wireless Station here this morning.

Geneva, November 22.—The Assembly of the League of Nations today discussed the proposal of Lord Robert Cecil (South Africa) that the League should take steps to save Armenia. Lord Robert Cecil pointed out that the League Council had tried to find a solution of the problem, but the United States, the only Power which appeared to be capable of accepting a mandate for Armenia, had refused it.

M. Spalaikovitch, Jugo-Slavia, stated that he was receiving daily telegrams showing the indignation in the Near East at the assassination of the Armenian people, which, he said, recalled the worst horrors of the Balkan War.

ASKS COMMISSION

M. Lafontaine, Belgium, proposed the appointment by the Assembly of a commission of six members to examine what measures could be taken to put an end

Vanderlip Will Start Factories In Russia Free Of Soviet Rule

American Financier Claims Contracts Worth Billions And That Lenin Has Agreed To Refrain From Any Interference

(Reuter's Service)

New York, November 22.—The London correspondent of the New York Herald has had an interesting interview with Mr. Washington Vanderlip who has just returned from a two months' stay in Moscow, bringing with him, so he claims, contracts to the value of several billion dollars.

"I have contracts," Mr. Vanderlip told the correspondent, who had asked whether Russia was now swinging towards the right, "to establish factories throughout Russia. When I first made my proposal, Lenin informed me that the factories must be run under Soviet law. I replied that that was impossible, and prepared to leave Moscow the next day. Lenin held a Cabinet meeting which lasted eighteen hours and then replied:

"Please run the factories to suit yourself."

HAS BIG CONTRACTS

Mr. Vanderlip hopes to meet the Russian demand for 22,000 locomotives, 10,000 aeroplanes, 2,000,000 tons of rails and $1,000,000 worth of other commodities of American origin. Asked how Russia was going to pay, Mr. Vanderlip said that that was a matter which concerned himself and his syndicate.

With regard to the Eastern Siberian concession, which Mr. Vanderlip's syndicate has secured and which the Herald correspondent says is "bigger than anything since Cecil Rhodes built the South African Empire," Mr. Vanderlip said that as soon as the concession became effective, there was "cargo to be carried to America enough to keep the Shipping Board's idle fleet busy for forty years."

The Kamchatka fisheries included in the concession were twice as great as the salmon industry of Alaska, Mr. Vanderlip said; there was sufficient oil supply to meet the whole of Canada's demand, without Canada having to rely on the United States. In addition, there was grain throughout Siberia, if transportation were organised.

VIEW OF LENIN

Mr. Vanderlip told the Herald that Lenin had asked him if a social revolution was likely to come in America. Mr. Vanderlip said that he had replied "not in ten thousand years," whereupon Lenin remarked: "Everybody in America has an automobile; perhaps you are right."

When Lenin questioned Mr. Vanderlip concerning the Japanese protest against the Siberian concession, the American retorted "It is none of my business."

In conclusion, the correspondent asked Mr. Vanderlip whether the Bolshevist communist theory would succeed.

"No nonsense," replied Mr. Vanderlip, "they know in their heart-of-hearts it will not succeed."

JAPAN TO INQUIRE

Tokio, Nov. 23.—The Kokumin states that the cabinet has decided to make formal inquiries in the United States respecting the Vanderlip concession in Siberia as a basis for subsequent steps if such should be considered necessary.

Semenoff Division Is Slain; Officers Desert

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, Nov. 23.—Reports from foreigners at Changsha say that the Tuchun, Tan Yen-kai, has been ousted by his military commander Tsao Hung-ti, who is now acting as tuchun of Hunan province.

The Third Mixed Brigade which has its garrison at Ping Kiang has mutinied and killed its commander, General Hsiao.

With the permission of the Chinese the Bolshevists have occupied Manchuria Station.

DIVISION SLAIN

The entire third division of General Semenoff's army has been slain, the reports say. Leaders of the division have joined the Bolshevists.

Officers who have not affiliated with the Russians have taken refuge in Mongolia.

Chinese forces are being massed along the border to prevent invasion.

An American party, accompanied by a Japanese Intelligence officer, Captain Ezoi, arrived from Urga last night and reported that the situation there is serious and that the Japanese legation is making every effort to evacuate their nationals.

CRITICISE CHINESE

They say that the Chinese local authorities have failed to provide motor car transportation as formally promised by the Chinese Foreign Office.

The Japanese minister today asked the Foreign Office whether it can give assurance that its authority will be respected in regard to the removal of Japanese from the zone of danger in Urga.

Vladivostok, Nov. 22.—The Vladivostok Assembly, having listened to the reports of all parties, has accepted the proposal of the Ministers to postpone its decision in regard to joining up with the other Far Eastern States until the return of the delegates from Chita, on November 27.

Col. Isome has telegraphed this news to the Japanese staff.

DEMANDS ARMS

Col. Isome has further telegraphed to M. Krasnoshchekoff maintaining that, in view of the forces of Ataman Semenoff and Gen. Kappel having agreed to hand over their arms to him (Col. Isome), it was the duty of M. Krasnoshchekoff to secure the arms of the Partisans.

He added that further negotiations were necessary, and he asked M. Krasnoshchekoff to inform the Partisans to this effect.

M. Krasnoshchekoff has replied, congratulating Col. Isome on having secured the disarmament of Ataman Semenoff's and Gen. Kappel's forces. He states that everything will be done immediately to get into communication with the Partisans, and guarantees Col. Isome's safety in disarming the Partisans.

Slayers Of Sing Song Girl Pay Penalty For Deed

In the presence of a large number of sing song girls, officers of the International police and newspaper reporters the two men convicted in the sing song girl murder case were executed yesterday at the drill compound of the Arsenal.

Promptly at 3 o'clock, the prisoners, Yen Jui-sung and Woo Tsung-fang, were brought before Teng Kan-chien, chief of the Court Martial. The judgment was read to them and the prisoners were asked what they wished to say. Yen said it would be too late for him to say anything to save himself, while Woo remained silent

The Catholic Church designated Mr. Lo Pak-hung to perform the rites before the execution as the first convict was a Catholic. Mr. Lo bound a cloth about the eyes of each and placed the cross round their necks. After the prayer, the doomed men were conveyed to the drill ground by ricsha, their hands being tied.

About a hundred motor cars followed the escort. On their way to the ground, Yen was pale and shivering with an occasional grimace and a grinding of the teeth while Woo poured forth a stream of exclamations, chiefly execrations directed at the sing song girls. When he neared the execution ground, however, Woo began singing.

The execution occupied less than two minutes. Both men were seated together on the ground and a volley was fired.

The request of the relatives of Yen for custody of his remains was refused on the ground that it must be made through the proper courts and both bodies were temporarily buried in the public cemetery at the end of the drill compound.

GREEKS INVITE EXILED PRINCES TO COME BACK

Premier Intimates This Is Opportune Time For Ex-King's Return

ITALY'S HANDS OFF

Policy Of Deposed Head Of Liberal Government Displeases Rome

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 21.—The Greek Premier, M. Rhallys, has telegraphed to ex-King Constantine at Lucerne that the Greek Princes may re-enter the country like any other Greek citizens.

This is considered in French diplomatic circles as a thinly-veiled suggestion that the present moment is a favorable one for the ex-King's return, but Reuter's correspondent in Athens states that ex-King Constantine has cabled to M. Rhallys that he will await the result of the plebiscite, which, it is announced, the Cabinet has fixed for November 28, before returning to Greece.

CRISIS APPROACHING

London, November 20.—It is improbable that the situation in Greece will develop much before the meeting of the Chamber on November 25. In the meanwhile Great Britain and France are likely to hold their hand, although they are discussing steps for joint action in the event of Ex-King Constantine's being invited to reascend the throne.

In such a case, France apparently favors the withdrawal of friendly relations with Greece.

A solution of the impasse which would probably be acceptable to France would be approval of the succession of Crown Prince George subject to ministerial guarantees.

ITALY WITHDRAWS

Italy has plainly told the British and French that she will not associate herself with any measures against the Constantinian regime. This, it is felt, is explained by Rome's avowed dislike and distrust of the project of a greater Greece as conceived by M. Venizelos.

In the meanwhile despatches from Athens show that the Government and people are not concerning themselves with foreign opinion, but that their rejoicing over "Tino's" expected return is continuing.

The Government's first outstanding acts have been the dismissal of Archbishop Meletios of Athens who is replaced by Archbishop Theoccitos who has publicly anathematised M. Venizelos. It has also ordered the exhibition of ex-King Constantine's portrait in all Government offices and courts of law.

Paris, Nov. 20.—It is learned in official circles here that the French and British Premiers are to meet in London shortly in order to consider the whole question of the Near East and especially the situation in Asia Minor and the Caucasus which is regarded as most serious.

The defeat of M. Venizelos will probably entail the withdrawal of the Greek army from Smyrna. Mustapha Kemal is advancing, the Armenians have lost Kars, and if Alexandropol falls, communication between Armenia and Georgia will be cut.

Moveover, owing to the collapse of General Wrangel's army, the Bolsheviks will now be free to join with the Turkish Nationalist forces.

DARKE TOO ILL TO GO TO TRIAL

The murder trial of Homer M. Darke, who was cook on the American gunboat Elcano and is held for the death of a Chinese cobbler who was drowned while the Elcano was at Hangkow, was postponed indefinitely on account of the illness of the accused when the case was called for hearing yesterday afternoon in the United States Court for China before Judge C. S. Lobingier.

It was explained that Darke is suffering from a heavy cold and while his condition is not thought to be serious it was decided that he was not well enough to appear in court.

Darke is accused of having thrown the Chinese cobbler into the Yangtsze river from the Elcano as the outcome of a dispute over the price of shoes. He has been held in custody since early in September.

FORMER HEAD OF AMERICAN LEGION WELCOMED HERE

Colonel d'Olier Honor Guest At Astor Dinner-Dance And Tiffin Today

PAYS VISIT TO CAPITAL

Peking College Men Extend Greeting At Reception For Visitor

The Shanghai branch of the American Legion, which is the Gen. Frederick Ward Post of the organisation, is giving a welcome to Col. Frankin d'Olier, who was the first Grand Commander of the American Legion and who with Mrs. d'Olier is paying a visit to Shanghai. Colonel and Mrs. d'Olier came to Shanghai from Peking where they were entertained by the Princeton Club and by former American service men.

Colonel d'Olier was guest of honor last night at a dinner and dance that was given at the Astor House by the Gen. Frederick Ward Post. He will also be guest today at a tiffin at the Carlton Cafe at which Maj. Arthur Bassett will preside. At the tiffin Colonel d'Olier is to speak and tell something of the history and the aims of the American Legion.

FETED AT PEKING

Peking, Nov. 20.—More than 50 persons, many of them ladies, were present at last evening's reception given by the Princeton Club of North China to the members of the Harvard and Yale Clubs in honor of Colonel F. d'Olier, Princeton '98, and Mrs. d'Olier. The smoker was the third annual gathering of Harvard, Yale and Princeton men in Peking, the Harvard Club having inaugurated this pleasant practice with a smoker held at the Union Medical College in November, 1918, while the Yale Club followed with a smoker at the Returned Students' Club late last year.

After a brief and informal reception, which gave Colonel and Mrs. d'Olier a chance to meet the Harvard, Yale and Princeton men and their wives, Robert R. Gailey, Acting President of Princeton Club, a Princeton athlete and All-American center in the middle nineties, opened the program of the evening with a number of college songs which were sung with the spirit and enthusiasm of undergraduate days.

PRINCETON CAPTAIN SPEAKS

Mr. Gailey then introduced as the first speaker of the evening Carl Erdman, Princeton '20, captain and star hurdler of last Spring's Princeton track team that ran away from Harvard and Yale and ended its season with a voyage to England and a clean-cut victory over Oxford at Queen's Club. Mr. Erdman first expressed his supreme gratification over the report, just received here, that Princeton had defeated Yale, 20 to 0, in the annual football game between these two universities and then went on to tell us how Princeton "did it" at Queen's last Summer.

He emphasised the closeness of the contest, the excellent sporting spirit that prevailed between the members of the Oxford and Princeton teams, the hospitality of the British and the value of such international contests in developing good understanding and friendship between the citizens of the countries participating in them.

Lieutenant Fisken, U.S.A., of the Yale Club, followed Mr. Erdman with a short speech on

Four Million In Single District Of Chihli Are Dying For Want Of Food

Appalling Report Of Conditions Is Forwarded By Priest In Chengtingfu District To Shanghai Famine Relief Body

The following statement of the present situation caused by famine in the Vicariate of S. W. Chihli has been received by the Shanghai Chinese Foreign Famine Relief Committee from a Catholic Priest located in Chengtingfu:

It is my duty to thank you in the name of the famine stricken Chinese for the generous alms you send to us. You are saving the lives of hundreds of people. According to your intention the money will be distributed among the poor sufferers without difference of religion. The Almighty God, Father of mankind, will, no doubt, bless all the benefactors who assist the poor.

The people of this region are living on the produce of the land only and as no rain has fallen from July, 1919, until October, 1920, there was no harvest at all except at some small places where the land can be irrigated. In this Vicariate, which includes 32 districts, there are according to most trustworthy indications, 4,000,000 at least of starving people not including those who come from elsewhere. Every day we hear the most heartbreaking particulars from the sufferers, especially through our missionaries, of those who expire of hunger, of others who sell women and children, leave their homes and go begging along the roads and through the villages, or commit suicide. I beg to give you some particulars communicated by one or two of our missionaries or seen by myself.

DYING OF HUNGER

The missionary in charge of the Nei-Kew district (Shuntefu) writes that tens of thousands of persons are dying of hunger in his district and he forwards to me lists of villages where the poverty and distress are the saddest.

The missionary in charge of a portion of the Ning-tsing district came to me and with eyes full of tears asked for prompt assistance, otherwise whole villages will perish. At Mong-kia-chwang, he says, 31 persons expired of hunger, eight children have been sold, 152 houses have been pulled down in order to sell the wood at a low price and buy some food: 156 families scattered, one poor desperado has dug his grave and after poisoning himself died in the grave. At Changkiakow (Ning-tsing district) 22 persons died, 30 families dispersed, 104 houses pulled down. At Laowangkiachwang: 38 persons are dead, 311 families dispersed, 58 houses have been thrown down. In the same village a whole family, parents and children have been found hanged in their house.

At Neikiashingchwang 42 dead, 200 families dispersed, 320 houses demolished, eight children sold. At Tsinshankiao, 19 dead, 183 families dispersed, four children sold.

At Kengchwangkiao, 31 dead, 35 families dispersed, four children sold, etc., etc.

SAME IN ALL DISTRICTS

But I put an end to giving you particulars: the frightfulness is more or less the same in all our famine stricken districts. Here at our residence we daily witness the most heartrendering scenes. Poor old women come to us either on foot or carried on the backs of their children from places 50 or a 100 or more miles away: mothers bearing their babies, invalids weakened by long privations, walk five and ten days begging their food on the way, arrive daily and ask for a shelter from the coming cold or at least for a little food. Children covered with rags, travel days and days and when they arrive, worn out

TROOPS WILL BE SENT INTO IRELAND TO STOP RIOTS

Large Force To Be Rushed To Dublin, Says Daily Mail

SLAYERS CAUGHT

Police Arrest Men Who Are Accused Of Assassination

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Nov. 22.—The London correspondent of the Associated Press telegraphs that there have been few reports from Dublin since last evening save brief statements that street fighting and fires had occurred there. No further deaths are reported, but one message stated that the hospitals were filled with wounded.

The Dublin correspondent of the Daily Mail understands that arrangements are under way for the despatch of a large body of troops to Ireland. It is feared that the present outbreak of assassinations may spread to England.

OFFICERS SLAIN

Paris, Nov. 22.—According to advices from Dublin, armed bands of Sinn Feiners there have executed raids on the quarters of army officers who had recently taken part in courts-martial called to try rebels. Several English officers have been killed.

London, Nov. 21.—A dozen men, said to be former officers and officers living out of barracks, were shot dead in Dublin this morning. Two were killed at the Gresham Hotel, Captain Newberry was shot dead at his residence and of three men shot at another house two are dead and one dying. A simultaneous attack was made on army officers living in lodgings outside barracks.

Four officers were shot in one house, three in another, and two in another, whilst a retired officer, Major Fitzgerald, was shot dead in his own house by three men, and another officer was killed in the street.

FOURTEEN DEAD

London, Nov. 21.—It now appears, according to an official statement that the victims of the Dublin murders number fourteen killed and six wounded. The dead include two court-martial officers.

The auxiliary police have captured three of the assassins. Two of the auxiliaries were killed while going for reinforcements. Major Fitzgerald, it now appears, was shot in his bed.

There is great excitement in the city. Military cars are patrolling the streets and firing into the air in order to scatter the crowds. The police and military are conducting raids throughout the city, and are holding up motors car and motorcyclists. Grave uneasiness is felt by the citizens, who fear reprisals.

A significant change of attitude towards Sinn Fein has occurred in Galway, hitherto one of the strongest Sinn Fein districts in Ireland. The Galway County Council has decided officially to repudiate the authority of the Dail Eirann and comply with the requirements of the Local Government Board in defiance of the Republican Parliament's "decrees."

MAYOR ASKS GUARD

It is officially stated that the Lord Mayor of Dublin has applied for police protection and is at present being guarded by "black and tans" (auxiliaries).

There was an ominous silence regarding events in Dublin during the night. Not a word has been received in London since a message arrived announcing that there was a good deal of shooting going on.

Two auxiliary police were ambushed in the County of Cork and one of them killed and the other seriously wounded.

Mr. Cowley, a well-known sporting journalist, was shot dead by the military when he failed to reply to their challenge. He was aged 62 and was somewhat deaf.

DETAILS OF OUTRAGES

London, Nov. 23.—A number of graphic details are related in connection with the Dublin murders.

In Mount Street a party of 17 Royal Irish Constabulary cadets in a motor lorry was passing a house when a woman screamed from a window that an officer had been murdered there. The party surrounded the house, and sent off two of their number to the barracks for reinforcements. A number of them entered the house, where three officers were living.

It is declared that the murderers obtained admission to a bedroom where two officers were sleeping by telling a bogus story about a letter. They immediately fired four shots, killing one officer, while the other escaped.

The murderers then went to a room where a third officer was in bed, but he, knowing what to expect, jumped out of bed and, remaining behind the door, dropped on one knee as he pulled the door open. The murderers fired 12 shots into his bed and then decamped.

ARRESTS ARE MADE

It is stated that the cadets arrested a man whom they found in the house and three others in the vicinity, all of whom were carrying revolvers. Meanwhile the two cadets who had been sent for reinforcements were killed, evidently by others of the gang who were watching the house.

The proceedure in the other raids was very similar, but in the case of the Grèsham Hotel, where two officers were murdered, 15 armed men held up the hotel staff with revolvers, and forced the porter to take the party to the officers' bed-rooms.

In another case three men were taken to backyards and shot there.

OFFICERS SLAIN

Captain Newbury, who, in his bed-room was shot in the presence of his wife, made a good fight, wounding one of the raiders, who was subsequently captured.

In addition to Major Fitzgerald, who was shot in bed, those who were killed include five captains, one ex-captain and a lieutenant, while the wounded include two colonels, a captain and a lieutenant.

An official statement gives the number of killed as 14, and of wounded as six. The dead include two court-martial officers. The auxiliary police captured three of the assassins. Ten persons were killed and 65 wounded, eleven of them seriously, during the raid on Croke Park.

with by Rev. A. N. Roland, new pastor of the Union Church, and the Thanksgiving address will be given by Dr. Luther Freeman, pastor of the recently organised Community Church.

SPECIAL MUSIC

Special music is to be provided at the service, which will begin at 5:30 o'clock in the afternon and it will be attended by a detachment of American sailors from warships in port and the American Company of the Shanghai Volunteer Corps will march to the Cathedral in a body. The work of placing decorations which will be completed today is being done by committees of the American Woman's Club.

When plans for the observance of Thanksgiving Day were first being considered by a number of American residents the suggestion was advanced that as the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims falls within the Thanksgiving season it might be fitting to extend the invitation to British residents of Shanghai to join in a common observance of both holidays. This proposal was carried into effect and the use of The Cathedral in which to hold the service was kindly offered.

PROCLAMATION AWAITED

Mr. Mahlon F. Perkins, American Consul-in-charge, who headed the committee that arranged the observance, said yesterday that President Wilson's Thanksgiving proclamation probably will be received by radio today at the American Consulate and in the event that the proclamation is received in time it will be read at the service tomorrow. The proclamation, he said, had been sent by radio to Manila on November 22.

Geddes Urges U.S. And Great Britain Work Together

(Reuter's Service)

New York, November 19.—Speaking at a banquet given by the Chamber of Commerce of New York State at which General Pershing and Governor Miller were present, Sir Auckland Geddes pleaded once more for friendship and co-operation between the United States and Great Britain.

He declared that the only alternative to international co-operation was the course which Germany followed prior to the war and which led to the war. The choice was America's, concluded Sir Auckland Geddes, for the British Empire offered American friendship.

with weariness, they ask to be taken in our schools or orphanages to save them from dying of hunger and cold.

If you ask them what kind of food they have taken before they left their homes the answer is always the same: straw, roots, etc., pulverised and boiled: sometimes they lived on oilcakes (cattle-food) or on the millet-rind (food for pigs).

Up to the present, we have received at the Mission compound 708 girls and 385 boys (aged between 5 and 16) 128 aged men, 125 aged women: 886 women with their babies and 20 families (man and wife) old people. We cannot refuse to accept especially the children, boys and girls, as they are doomed to die of hunger or to be sold. The parents have gone to beg and have abandoned them.

CARE FOR BABIES

Furthermore we also have to receive babies, cast away by their parents. People knowing we receive these poor innocents bring them to us. The bearers are satisfied to render this service as they get some money for it. So we receive children (babies and older ones) not only from the 32 districts of our Vicariate but also from the neighboring districts Shulu, Kichow Kwangpinfu, Tamingfu etc.

As we are doing in our residence at Chengtingfu the missionaries do in their districts as far as their means and their residences permit. We put confidence in God and we trust the generous efforts of the benefactors will help us to save the lives of a great number of sufferers if not all of them.

Thanking you again for the help already sent to us. I am confident that further succor to the poor will not fail and I remain, Gentlemen, yours very gratefully,

N. BAROUD.

Harbin, November 23.—A report from a Chinese official source states that part of Ataman Semenoff's troops have surrendered to the Reds. The remainder have consented to deliver up their arms to the Chinese and proceed via Manchuria Station to the Maritime Province.

Chinese troops have taken up positions on the Russian side of the frontier. The Chinese are not allowing refugees from Transbaikalia to detrain at Harbin, but has directed them to proceed to Mulin Station, where it is understood that accomodation is being provided for them.

WRANGEL PLANS TO RENEW FIGHT

Russian Leader Undaunted And Declares He Will Reassemble Troops

(Reuter's Service)

London, November 20.—General Wrangel appears to be an optimist of the first order, for he talks, in the course of an interview with the Constantinople correspondent of the Evening News, of forming the nucleus of a new army with the remains of his shattered forces who are anxious, he says, to fight the Bolsheviks again.

General Wrangel added that his infantry had provisionally gone to Gallipoli and his Cossacks to Lemnos. He attributed his defeat to the Reds' overwhelming numbers, but said that their pursuit was badly organised and his forces had saved all their rifles and machine-guns, though they had been compelled to blow up all their armored cars and tanks.

SHRINERS' PARTY HERE JANUARY 29

Historic Masonic Ceremonial Will Be Held Early In February

Further detail has reached Shanghai regarding the Shriner caravan which is to make a special pilgrimage to this port early next year for the purpose of holding a ceremonial session. Word received from the United States is to the effect that the party will arrive here on January 29 by the Empress liner and the ceremonial will be held shortly thereafter.

The party will be headed by Imperial Potentate Ellis Lewis Garretson, of Afifi Temple, Tacoma, Washington. Besides the Imperial Potentate, the party will include Mr. Ed. B. King, Illustriate Potentate of the Afifi Temple, who has been a member of the Imperial Council for eight years; the Chief Rabban—Judge Grover Nolte, a prominent Tacoma attorney who has been for many years a representative to the Imperial Council, the Assistant Rabban, Judge Frank D. Oakley, who is chief counsel for the Stone, Webster Company, owners of all the municipal railroads in the American Northwest, and Bishop Frederic W. Plea In Boulon Case Will Be Made Today

Arraignment of Mr. Ferdinand G. Boulon, former manager of the Shanghai branch of Gaston, Williams and Wigmore, on the two charges of embezzlement he is facing, is to take place in the United States Court for China before Judge C. S. Lobingier this morning. This step in the proceedings was to have been taken yesterday, but was deferred on request of attorneys in the case.

Chapeaux Pours Another Broadside Into Policies Of French Tram Company

Writer In Echo de Chine Points Out Huge Profits Growth Of Settlement Has Brought And Outlines Council's Intentions

Another broadside of criticism of the policies and methods of the French Tramway, Electric and Water Company is loosed in the latest of the series of articles of Mr. Albert Chapeaux which is reproduced in the following through the courtesy of the Echo de Chine in which the current article appears today. Mr. Chapeaux says:

The Municipal Council, provoked by the attitude manifested on the part of the company, is of the opinion that the program of extensions proposed by the company is wholly inadequate. This decision was reached after investigation and study.

The growth of the French Concession, particularly since the war, has been remarkable and the company operating the tramways and looking after the water and electricity supply has profited handsomely through this growth. And this development will be intensified, the growth of the concession is not to stop. It is even expected that additional territory will be acquired by the French Council.

PLAN EXTENSIONS

Extensions planned by the company should be such that they will meet the needs of the French Concession for the next eight or ten years in order that the inadequate service by the tramways, water and electricity departments, from which the residents of the concession have suffered for years, will not be continuous. The present inefficiency of the public service corporation is due to its neglect for during this decade the water department installations have not been developed. In the International Settlement the opposite is true.

The French Municipal Council objects to a permanent loan of electricity from the International Settlement electricity department and the amount of current borrowed is steadily increasing.

SUBTERFUGE CHARGED

Past experiences, negotiations with the company's representative at the beginning of this year and the actual program submitted all unfortunately confirm the opinion expressed by the Council —that the company is seeking every possible subterfuge to evade its obligations and that this imprudent policy may place the French Concession in an inextricable difficulty in the near future.

Under these conditions, the French Municipal Council, conscious of its duty to large public and private interests, has decided to (1) compel the company to adjust its tariffs and to adopt the ideas prevalent in the International Settlement.

(2) Transfer to Shanghai of the administration of the company, according to the specifications stipulated in the contract. This is the only remedy for the delays and difficulties caused by direction of the company's policy from such a distance.

It might be noted in this connection that on every occasion that negotiations have been carried on between the Council and the Paris offices of the company, the result has always been unfavorable for the Municipality.

MEET FUTURE NEEDS

(3) The carrying out of a sensible program of extension, to meet not only the present but future needs of the French Concession. This program must be drawn up by the company and the council.

Recent information shows that the company would have ordered material without first consulting the Municipal Council. This is not only a breach of respect but in addition is not in accordance with the contract and could be the basis of a law suit.

Regarding the adjustment of tariffs, if the company wishes to hide behind the conclusive paragraphs or the text of a contract made at a time when the prodigious growth of the concession was not foreseen, it can not do so because (1) of its administration in Shanghai and (2) its policy.

The idea of giving the Company a monopoly was because the Concession authorities desired to meet demands for public service by the residents of the concession. But it was not the idea of the authorities when the monopoly was granted that the electricity department should get current from the International Settlement.

EQUIPMENT LACKING

The company counts so much on this supply from the adjoining settlement that it has no idea of the future demand in the French Concession and therefore is not ordering sufficient equipment. And the company is hiding behind vague statements concerning the discontinuance of this supply from the Shanghai Municipal Council.

The French Council was firm in its veto of continuing this borrowing of current inasmuch as this is against the stipulations of the contract. The company has violated every promise given the authorities in Paris and in Shanghai—the ministry of foreign affairs, the Consulate and the French Municipal Council.

Capital Of Armenia Taken By Turks, Is Report From Geneva

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, November 20.—It is reported that the Turkish Nationalist troops have captured Erivan, the capital of Armenia.

Rules Made For Nations Seeking To Join League

to hostilities between Armenia and Mustapha Kemal.

M. Branting, Sweden, expressed the sympathy of the Scandinavian countries for Armenia, and supported M. Lafontaine's proposal.

Mr. Balfour, British Empire, emphasised the difficulties of the question. He pointed out that the League Covenant only embraced organised countries with fixed frontiers, capable of being influenced by the public opinion of the world and by the threat of economic pressure, if necessary.

"Armenia's frontiers," said Mr. Balfour, "will be fixed by President Wilson, but Kemal is a brigand chief, and is not susceptible to the pressure of public opinion or of an economic blockade. It is necessary to find a Power which will accept responsibility for saving Armenia. Acceptance of collective responsibility by the members of the League is doubtful, after the relative failure of the League Council's appeal for voluntary contributions to the campaign against typhus."

COLLECTIVE ACTION

M. Viviani, France, urged immediate collective action. The commission proposed by M. Lafontaine, he thought, would give Armenia hope, but would probably be a failure. M. Vivian regretted that the French proposal at the peace conference for an international force was omitted from the text of the Treaty of Versailles.

If an international staff and force had existed now, Armenia would have been saved. The Assembly, M. Viviani urged, ought to ask the council to find a power capable of accepting responsibility for stopping hostilities between Armenia and Kemal by imposing mediation and negotiations.

Dr. Nansen, Norway, said it was a question of sending 60,000 men and spending £20,000,000. The United States, he remarked had refused the mandate but might accept a mission now to save the Armenian people.

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS

After speeches by M. Take Jonescu, Rumania, supporting M. Viviani, and Mr. C. J. Doherty, Canada, supporting Lord Robert Cecil and M. Lafontaine, M. Vivian, and Lord Robert Cecil agreed to present their proposals together.

The Assembly then unanimously adopted the following resolution:

(1) that the Council be invited to arrange with the various Governments to find powers which would impose mediation between Armenia and Mustapha Kemal, and

(2) That a commission of six members be formed to study the question, in the event of mediation failing.

The unanimity of the Assembly, which is necessary under the Covenant on questions of this importance, created a profound impression.

TERRIBLE PLIGHT

London, Nov. 21.—The Armenians are in a terrible plight, although the capture of their capital, Erivan, has not yet been confirmed. The Turkish Nationalists have presented another ultimatum containing impossible conditions.

Lord Robert Cecil has promised to bring the matter urgently before the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva.

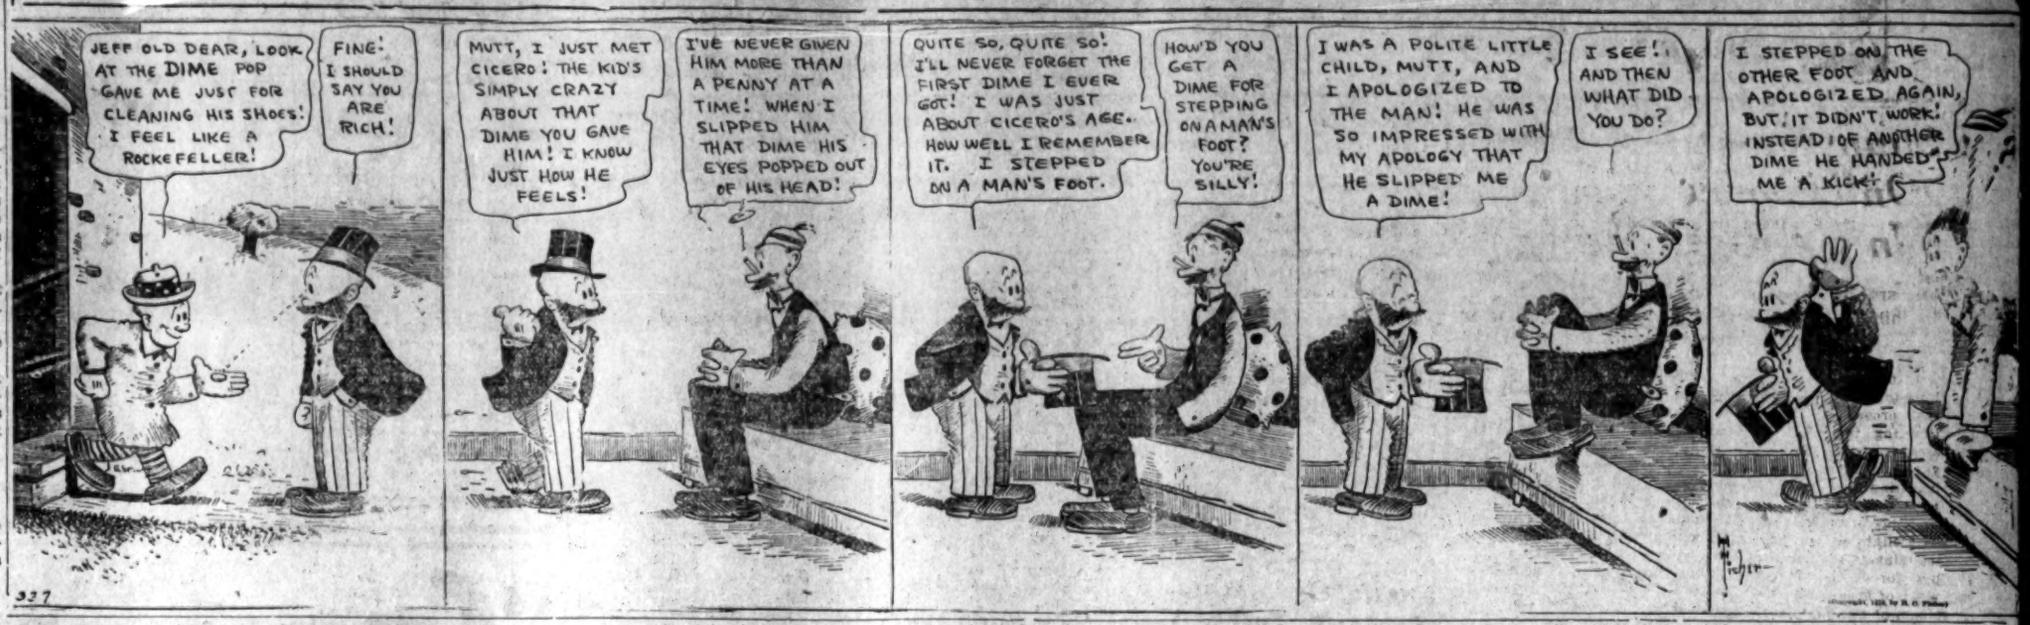
MUTT & JEFF — Yes, As A Child Jeff Was Very, Very Polite? — By Bud Fisher



JEFF OLD DEAR, LOOK AT THE DIME POP GAVE ME JUST FOR CLEANING HIS SHOES! I FEEL LIKE A ROCKEFELLER!
FINE! I SHOULD SAY YOU ARE RICH!
MUTT, I JUST MET CICERO! THE KID'S SIMPLY CRAZY ABOUT THAT DIME YOU GAVE HIM! I KNOW JUST HOW HE FEELS!
I'VE NEVER GIVEN HIM MORE THAN A PENNY AT A TIME! WHEN I SLIPPED HIM THAT DIME HIS EYES POPPED OUT OF HIS HEAD!
QUITE SO, QUITE SO! I'LL NEVER FORGET THE FIRST DIME I EVER GOT! I WAS JUST ABOUT CICERO'S AGE. HOW WELL I REMEMBER IT. I STEPPED ON A MAN'S FOOT.
HOW'D YOU GET A DIME FOR STEPPING ON A MAN'S FOOT? YOU'RE SILLY!
I WAS A POLITE LITTLE CHILD, MUTT, AND I APOLOGIZED TO THE MAN! HE WAS SO IMPRESSED WITH MY APOLOGY THAT HE SLIPPED ME A DIME!
I SEE! AND THEN WHAT DID YOU DO?
I STEPPED ON THE OTHER FOOT AND APOLOGIZED AGAIN, BUT IT DIDN'T WORK! INSTEAD OF ANOTHER DIME HE HANDED ME A KICK!

BACKACHE AND SORE KIDNEYS ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

"Drink a strongly alkaline water to neutralise the acids and flush the kidneys. Then the pains must go," says JOHNNIE BASHAM, Welter-weight Boxing Champion of Great Britain.

Not one person in a hundred flushes the kidneys often enough, or knows how to do it properly. Not one in five hundred over the age of forty understands how easily kidney neglect can lead to serious rheumatism, gout, sciatica, or even such dreaded maladies as Bright's Disease, Dropsy, or Diabetes. It is astonishing how few persons, excepting chemists and the medical profession, understand that the water we drink must reach the kidneys by first being absorbed into the blood, and that if the water is strongly alkaline it thoroughly flushes the kidneys when being expelled, taking with it the acids and impurities it has absorbed while in the blood. This is why the strongly alkaline water of famous hot springs are so effective. Kidney, rheumatic, or uric acid sufferers can easily prove this to their complete satisfaction and without stirring a single step from their own homes. Simply drink before breakfast every other morning, for a week or two, a glass of hot water in which you have dissolved a level tea-spoonful of the Alkia Saltrates (powder form), which all chemists can supply. Its taste is pleasant, its cost very slight indeed and it probably is as good as anything you can use for the purpose. Afterward, you will not be likely to have much patience with any of your friends if they continue to suffer after you have told them about this.

NOTE.—We are informed that Messrs. A. S. Watson and Co. of 16 Nanking Road, Shanghai, stock a specially high grade of Alkia Saltrates and are in a position to supply this remarkable compound at very low cost.

Shanghai Riders, Mounted On Hankow Ponies, Shine In Up-River Autumn Meet

Messrs. Hill, Bremner, Crokam And Bauld Give Clever Exhibitions Of Riding—Two Dead Heats Feature First Day—Unusually Large Crowds In Attendance

Hankow, November 22.—Lured by a love for "the sport of kings," the prospects for some most thrilling turf contests, and the strains of Tuchun Wang Chuan-yuan's yamen band, a record-breaking crowd assembled at the Race Course on Monday for the first day of the Autumn Meeting.

A slight drizzle of rain; commencing as the ponies went to the post for the fourth race, put somewhat of a damper on the enthusiasm of the big gathering. Nevertheless a fine afternoon of sport, enlivened by two hair-raising dead heats for first place, was enjoyed.

The four Shanghai riders who came to Hankow for the meet—Messrs. Hill, Crokam, Bremner and Bauld—had excellent luck with their mounts, capturing no less than 16 of the 27 possible places in the nine events on the card.

Between them the Shanghai men took seven out of ten possible firsts (including Mr. Crokam's dead heat with Mr. Mackey in the sixth race); four out of eight possible seconds (excluding the second in the above-named event) and five out of nine possible thirds.

HILL GETS HONORS

Mr. William Hill carried away the riding honors of the day, piloting winners in the first, eighth and ninth races; the second pony in the second; and thirds in the fourth and sixth events on the card.

Mr. Crokam was second-best amongst the riders, winning the second race on Dewfiend and dead-heating on Dewchick with Mr. Mackey on Buzen in the sixth; riding Dewjoss into second place in the Maiden Stakes (third race); and coming back with Dewchick, and coming back with Dewchick, to take "show money" in the last event of the day.

Mr. Bremner scored a win with Mr. Baker's bay pony Challenger in the fifth race; and was second in the Autumn Cup (first) and Cash Sweep Cup (seventh), which was won by Mr. Bauld on the white pony Tempest. Mr. Bauld took thirds in the third and fifth events on the card.

Of the Hankow riders Mr. Dupree was the most successful, winning the third event with Skyscraper; riding a dead heat with Mr. Whitamore in the fourth; taking second to Mr. Hill in the ninth; and placing third in the second and seventh races.

The Monte Stable, with two firsts and two thirds, was the leading owner of the day. The summaries are as follows:

MANILA PLANS NEW SIX-TEAM BALL LEAGUE

Schedule To Start This Week And Run Until Rainy Season Commences

Manila is to have a six-team baseball league, the opening games of which will be played on Thanksgiving Day, according to recent advices from the Filipino capital.

The teams will be the "Cits" (Citizens), Meralcos, Cavites, Navy Yard, Air Service and Constabulary.

"With these six teams going great guns," says the Manila Bulletin, "the fans should witness some real classy baseball again this season. You can't keep a good man down, and so it is with old man baseball. He is one of the best men ever, and you simply cannot keep the old fellow down. Baseball should come into its own, and from all appearances, from the enthusiasm shown at the meeting last night, baseball will be as good as it has been here for some time past.

NO "MONKEYING"

"One thing about the game here. There won't be any of this gambling, and the throwing of ball games by players on the teams. These fellows like the game too well to try a stunt like this, and it is believed that the money involved would be so small that the players, would actually laugh at the person who offered them money to throw a game.

"Now that there has been a lot of pep shown at the start let's keep up the good work, and have one of the best baseball leagues since the All-Army won the championship in 1917. It was done once, so why can't it be done again? Baseball will have to be brought back into good graces again. The game of indoor ball has been replacing it with rapid strides, but if the teams only get together, we believe that the national pastime will have just as much love from the fans and players as it formerly did."

JACK DEMPSEY MEETS BRENNAN DECEMBER 14TH

New York Boxing Board Agrees To 15-Round Bout At "Garden"

BY "RIGHT CROSS"

The New York Boxing Commission has finally agreed to permit the proposed 15-round quarrel between Jack Dempsey and "Wild Bill" Brennan, which will be staged at Madison Square Garden on the evening of the 14th, according to a Reuter despatch received in Shanghai yesterday.

Dempsey and Brennan—who boasts a decision over the champion, secured previous to the Dempsey-Willard embroglio—were matched once before, but the boxing commissions of both New York and Massachusetts refused to permit the bout.

WELTERS AT WORK

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 20.—Last night's contest at the Albert Hall between Kid Lewis and Johnny Basham for the welter-weight championship was fast and very keen.

Lewis, at the outset, landed some heavy body blows and a right to the jaw, and had the best of the first couple of rounds.

After this Basham boxed beautifully, scoring with lefts to the face and rights to the jaw, and cleverly avoiding Lewis's hefty swings.

Lewis showed himself very anxious to get to close quarters, but Basham kept him out well, and led at half-way on points.

In the fourteenth Lewis split Basham's left ear, which bled profusely. In the ninteenth a right to the jaw sent Basham down for a count of eight; and, on his rising, a right and left finished him and the fight.

MORAN IN ENGLAND

Frank Moran, the American boxer, has arrived in England for a return match with Joe Beckett. He seemed perfectly fit, and is looking forward to spending a profitable six months in England.

For the present Moran is at Maidenhead, but will probably train at Warren Wood, in Epping Forest. For his sparring partners he has again chosen Frank Ray, Jack Stanley, and Fred Donovan.

"My fight with Beckett, which I am about to sign articles for, will be a good set-to," said Moran.

"There will be plenty of hard hitting in it as long as it lasts, but how long that will be I would not like to say, for I regard Beckett as a plucky and forceful fighter who stays well.

"Whichever of us wins the fight will get a match with Dempsey, and he will be the only man to do so."

Discussing the boxing situation in England, Moran added: "I think Mr. Cochran's dropping out of boxing is a great loss to the game, but I do not believe that he is out of it for good. He has too much sporting blood in him for that. One day he will hear the cheers and see the full house at a big contest, and he will come back to boxing promoting."

WILLARD ALL THROUGH

The New York Tribune (Grantland Rice) declares that Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion, is all through as a pugilist. Says Mr. Rice:

"If you want the facts about Jess Willard, I'll give them to you," one of his acquaintances told us recently.

"I saw him about ten days ago and had a talk with him. If Willard doesn't weigh over 300 pounds he doesn't weigh 10. He has put on at least 60 pounds since he fought Dempsey, and if he is training for anything it is to put on more weight.

"He'll never get in condition to fight again, and you can put up your last kopeck on that statement. Willard is through. And if he wasn't, he is through with Dempsey."

Football Season Of 1920 In U.S. Approaches End; Full Of Real Surprises

Failure Of Yale Eleven Is Biggest Sensation—Only "Comparative Score" Compilation Can Indicate Best Eastern Team—Middle And Far West Titles Decided

By Dudley Burrows

Former students at American colleges and universities now living in Shanghai, together with countless other residents in the International Settlement who have interested themselves in football as played in the United States, will await with particular interest the arrival of newspapers from the United States containing details of some of the more important struggles of the waning season.

The particularity of interest—from the writer's standpoint, at any rate—will lie in the fact that the old Celestial Dope seems to have sustained another knockout at the hands of the pigskin warriors this year; with the result that, from this distance, it is almost impossible to judge which of the more prominent Eastern elevens emerged from the season's melee with the least-tarnished plume.

Thus, a U.S. Naval Radio message received in Shanghai on Monday last referred to the Harvard team as "undefeated throughout the season," indicating that the Crimson was in line for first-place honors; yet Harvard only beat Yale by a score of 9-0, while Princeton downed the Blue by a 20-0 margin, just after playing Harvard a 14-14 tie. It is not yet known whether the Princeton team sustained a 1920 defeat.

Yet, in the final analysis, both Harvard and Princeton may be compelled, on the basis of comparative scores, to yield the palm to one of the second-flight institutions, or to Penn. or Cornell, which may have had harder schedules, or defeated identical rivals by vastly superior scores.

Grantland Rice writing in the New York Tribune some weeks ago, seemed to think that Penn. State, a comparatively small institution located at Bellefonte, Pa., would cop the season's honors unless the leaders were mighty careful.

"Stopping Penn. State during the rest of the season," he said, "is an undertaking that few rivals are looking forward to with any abounding joy. Bezdek is a whale of a coach and he has a whale of a team. Penn. State's record last season was not to be listed below first place, and by December she will again be hammering at the main portal."

YALE'S FAILURE SURPRISES

The downfall of the Yale team this season seems to have been almost entirely unexpected. Early in October Rice held to the opinion that "Yale seems to have a slight lead over Princeton, with the Tigers running second in the triangular chase."

The Yalestors seemed to be going great guns at that time—they had beaten Carnegie Tech, a strong aggregation, by the awesome score of 44-0 the day before—but they surely "done blowed up" toward the end, yielding to Princeton and Harvard in turn (as stated above).

The Army (U.S. Military Academy) remains to be reckoned with; so do Washington and Jefferson (always a strong outfit); Center College, last year's "mystery eleven;" Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Brown and many others.

The Navy (U.S. Naval Academy) appears to have had a somewhat poor season; yet a win for the Middies over the West Pointers at the Polo Grounds next Saturday afternoon would be a tremendous feather in the Annapolis cap.

THESE ARE SUPREME

There seems to be no doubt as to the superiority of Ohio State's team in the Middle West, nor of the University of California eleven on the Pacific Coast, each of these two outfits having won their respective Conference games without a defeat being scored against them.

Penn. which defeated Columbia's representatives in hollow fashion, meets Cornell tomorrow afternoon on Franklin Field (Philadelphia). Pittsburgh meets Penn. State on Forbes Field (Pittsburgh), while Washington and Jefferson tangles with its arch-rival, West Virginia, at Washington Pa.

The following are results of some of the more important games played on Saturday, October 16, and give a certain line on the respective abilities of the big elevens:

At Princeton—Princeton 7, Swarthmore 6.

At Cambridge—Harvard 41, Maine 0.

At New Haven—Yale 44, Carnegie Tech. 0.

At Ithaca—Cornell 13, Rochester 6.

At Providence—Brown 13, Amherst 0.

At Philadelphia—Pennsylvania 7, Bucknell 0.

At Annapolis—North Carolina State 14, Navy 7.

At West Point—Army 38, Marshall College 0.

At New York—Columbia 21, Trinity 0.

At Hamilton—Colgate 0, Susquehanna 0.

At Syracuse—Syracuse 49, Vermont 0.

At New Brunswick—Rutgers 6, Maryland University 0.

At Chicago—Northwestern 14, Knox 0.

At Columbus, O.—Ohio State 55, Ohio Wesleyan 0.

At South Bend—Notre Dame 39, Kalamazoo College 0.

At Minneapolis—Minnesota 41, North Dakota 3.

Attempt On Life Of Japan Premier Charged At Tokio

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, November 23.—The preliminary court has published its finding which charges Nisaburo Ito with having attempted to assassinate the Premier, Mr. Hara, on the night of May 8.

It appears that bombs were fashioned by filling four whisky bottles and three cardboard boxes with explosives. While waylaying the Premier, Ito was knocked down by a motor-car, and was picked up unconscious by the police, whose examination disclosed the plot.

Ito was formerly an artilleryman, and was dissatisfied with the Government's administration.

The public trial will begin on November 27.

COMPRADORE CHARGED

Three further charges were placed against the compradore Tsang Ziang-kyung by A. F. Thane and Co. when the case was called in the Mixed Court yesterday.

The defendant was formerly arraigned on a charge of embezzlement. The new charges include two of embezzlement, the sums involved being Tls. 500 and Tls. 33.56, and one alleging the forging of a fictitious chop by the use of which the compradore secured cargo from the firm, dealing with it therrafter on his own account.

Mr. Bryan appeared for the complainants and Mr. Rose for the defendant. The case was remanded for a special hearing, bail being increased to $1,500.

Through the finger-print records maintained by the Municipal Police it has been found that one Wong Ah-sai, arrested last Sunday for breaking into a house at 1034 Tsepoo Road, is one of the batch of prisoners who escaped from the Lunghwa jail on March 21 last. The man was convicted by the Mixed Court in February of 1917 on a charge of being in possession of firearms and was sent to the Arsenal and subsequently sentenced to seven years' imprisonment by the City Court.

the desirability of co-operation between Harvard, Yale and Princeton men in China, both Americans and Chinese, in developing the activities of the Yale Mission at Changsha; and Mr. R. A. Burr, President of the Harvard Club, spoke for a few minutes on loping the athletic spirit of the students of this country.

TELLS OF LEGION

At the conclusion of these speeches Mr Gailey introduced the guest of the evening, Colonel F. d'Olier, First Grand Commander of the American Legion, who told the meeting of the origin, organisation and aims of the Legion. Colonel d'Olier said that the Legion had been founded so as to give the enlisted men of America's citizen army an organisation that would hold them together in times of peace, that would provide them with a channel through which they might express themselves.

The American Legion now had several thousand posts throughout the United States, and posts were being established in foreign countries where American ex-service men resided in sufficient numbers.

The membership of the Legion is already over a million and growing rapidly the Colonel said. It includes the picked men of the country, and in twenty years, because they are picked men, the members of the American Legion will be running the affairs of the United States. The highest ideal of the men of the American Legion is service: and it was this ideal that sent them to France to help win the War and that made them turn with equal energy to the reconstruction of their country when peace was signed.

A general discussion on what Harvard, Yale and Princeton men can do in order to be of genuine service in China followed Colonel d'Olier's speech, Messrs. Lucius C. Porter, Yale Club, R. A. Burr, Harvard Club, and R. R. Gailey, K. Wang and Mead, Princeton Club, offering various suggestions in this direction. Mr. Gailey was finally requested to appoint a committee to go into the matter thoroughly and cooperate with the American College Club of North China. The committee appointed was composed of Messrs. R. A. Burr, Chairman and F. B. Chien, Harvard Club; Lucius C. Porter and Y. T. Tsur, Yale Club; and J. D. Hayes and K. Wang, Princeton Club.

is a virtue in a motor truck, more than in any other form of mechanical transportation. The degree of year-in and year-out efficiency in a motor truck is measured by its owner in dollars and cents. Further orders for the strict enforcement of the recently promulgated regulations to close the foreign bars in the Trenches at midnight have been issued to the Shanghai-Woosung Constabulary by the Defense Commissioner.

DISPOSE OF STOLEN BOND

Application was made in the Mixed Court yesterday for an order as to the disposal of a $100 United States gold bond belonging to Dr. Thornton Stearns, of Tsienfoo, which had been stolen and disposed of here.

The bond was subsequently sold by an exchange shop to Mr. Davis, who turned it in to the police when he found it to be non-negotiable. Written to regarding the bond, Dr. Stearns replied that it had been stolen, together with other articles, and he had written to Washington to have it cancelled and a new one issued. The exchange shops through which it passed here stood the loss incurred by Mr. Davis. The court ordered that the bond be turned over to the American Consulate-General with the request that it be forwarded to the United States Treasury Department at Washington and that Dr. Stearns be notified.

American Relief Party At Peking From Urga

(Reuter's Postal Service)

Peking, Nov. 22.—The American relief party returned from Urga this afternoon, accompanied by Mr. Mills, an American engineer, Mr. Izeo, the Japanese military agent, Baron Fittinghoff, his wife, son and daughter, and several others. Mr. Mills (a British subject), Mr. Green and Mr. Oinfsen (Danes) and 11 Japanese are the only foreigners remaining at Urga.

The new arrivals confirm the main details of the Chinese reports of fighting on October 24, 26 and 28, and a heavy engagement on November 3. Altogether 20 minor engagements and five major ones have taken place.

TOWN SHELLED

When the party left Urga on November 17, enemy shells were falling at Anolikai 12 miles to the east of Urga. The attackers are led by Russian officers, and consist mainly of Mongols, Buriats, Japanese and probably some Chinese. It is believed at Urga that Baron Ungern is directing operations. There are but few Russians forming the rank and file. The original strength was about 2,000 but probably this number has been doubled by reinforcements.

The Chinese have also been reinforced by 2,500 Chinese infantry and cavalry from Mimicheng (Kiakta.)

NEW ATTACK EXPECTED

A further attack upon Urga is expected, the outcome of which is doubtful.

The position of the Russians left at Urga is most pitiable.

Baron Pittinghoff is very ill, and if he had not been removed he would certainly have died. All the leading Mongols at Urga are under restraint, including the Hutukhtu.

The party speak in the highest terms of Mr. Mills's refusal to leave without Baron Fittinghoff and his family, while his house was under shell-fire and he was in other constant dangers, although there was nothing to prevent his own departure.

British Premier Hands Agreement On Trade To Russ

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 21.—Mr. Lloyd George has handed M. Krassin, the Soviet representative in England, a draft of the Trade Agreement between Great Britain and the Soviet Government, which the Sunday Times understands M. Krassin will sign in the course of a few days.

A new clause, not included in the July agreement has been added, which permits the importation and exportation of Russian gold.

It is understood that the only clause which M. Krassin is likely to disagree with is one relating to the payment of the Russian debts, which he contends is an international affair to be considered at a Peace Conference.

WHAT. WOMAN NEEDS

above all things are Health and Happiness. These are the true Woman's Rights! Every woman is entitled to them. Dame Nature intended her daughters to be healthy in body and happy in mind. Any woman conscious of pain and trouble which she feels might be removed will be well advised to make careful enquiry as to the cause. If it is found—as indeed is frequently the case—that a disordered digestion is giving rise to ill-health and the consequent depression of spirits, medicine of the right sort will doubtless soon set matters right. But it must be of the right sort. Beecham's Pills are to be strongly recommended for woman's needs. They may be taken with perfect confidence for derangements of the digestive organs, including such unpleasant ailments as sick-headache, biliousness, flatulence, constipation and the lassitude and worries often incidental to her sex. Every woman may get nearer to Health and Happiness by using

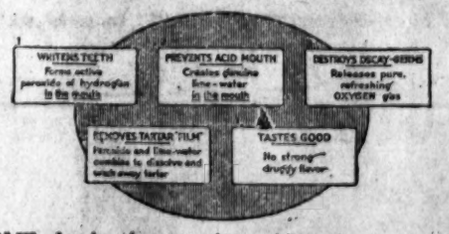
Five Dentifrice Features in One

Newest ideas of all dentifrices combined in Calox



WHITENS TEETH
Forms active peroxide of hydrogen in the mouth
PREVENTS ACID MOUTH
Creates glorious lime-water in the mouth
DESTROYS DECAY-GERMS
Releases pure, refreshing OXYGEN gas
REMOVES TARTAR FILM
Peroxide and lime-water combine to dissolve and wash away tartar
TASTES GOOD
No strong druggy flavor

SOME of us brush our teeth to whiten them; others to prevent decay and still others to refresh the mouth. Many believe they have acid-mouth or wish to remove the "crust of tartar" which is forming.

Regardless of why you brush your teeth, study the chart above and decide whether the dentifrice you are now trying will do or is doing all that you can reasonably expect from a dentifrice.

If it is, continue to use it faithfully. If it is good for only one of the duties of a good dentifrice, you had better try McK & R Calox, which combines in one dentifrice most of the features of all modern dentifrices.

If you haven't heard the story of McK & R Calox—how it forms real lime-water in your mouth to prevent acids—how it creates fresh active peroxide on the teeth every time you brush them—how it releases genuine oxygen gas which penetrates into every crevice and "gasses" the dangerous decay-germs into harmlessness, if you don't know this story of the victory of modern science, send for "The McK & R Calox Story."

Your dentist will recommend McK & R Calox to you and your druggist has it. Try it next time you need a dentifrice.

The taste is a surprise to most people. It is not the least bit "druggy" which proves that it is possible to make a pleasant tasting dentifrice and that a "strong" taste does not prove the efficiency of any paste or powder.

FRANCE UNEASY OVER REPARATIONS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 20.—Uneasiness is felt in France regarding the attitude of the British Government on the question of German reparations which has been touched upon by Mr. Lloyd George in an interview with the London correspondent of the Petit Parisien.

The Premier denied that he was diversing from the French point of view so far as to dispute it. He agreed that Germany must pay, but it was necessary first to fix the amount. When that was done Great Britain would be seen standing side by side with France in enforcing their demands.

France, he said, was mistaken if she thought the co-operation of Great Britain would fail her in this vital question.

Paris, Nov. 22.—The Petit Parisiens reproduces excerpts from an article in the Morning Post which points out the firmness of the Franco-British friendship.

"Our friendship with France," writes the British journal, "is a friendship which is bound to serve each of the two countries every time one of them is in any danger or finds itself at close quarters with difficulties. It is mutual life assurance. Such is the value that the British place upon the Entente."

Breweries Closed By Agents Of U.S.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Prohibition agents have closed and sealed two big breweries in Cincinnati on the ground that their products contained more than one-half of one percent alcohol.

The Internal Revenue Bureau announces that all breweries throughout the country whose products are found to exceed the legal percentage of alcohol will be seized by Federal agents.

Registration of American Citizens.

The attention of all American citizens residing in the Shanghai Consular District is invited to the fact that a Register of American Citizens is kept in this Consulate-General. All who have not registered, or who have not re-registered within the last twelve months, are hereby requested to do so. The advisability of such action is obvious, especially for such persons as may require emergency passports or Consular protection.

Applicants for initial registration should bring with them all available documentary evidence of American citizenship including any passport in their possession; and should be accompanied by an identifying witness.

Those who have once registered and have received notice of the approval of their registrations need no further evidence when applying for re-registration.

M. F. PERKINS,
American Consul in Charge.

Japanese Treasury Buys Foreign Bonds

The Japanese Treasury's investment in foreign securities witnessed a material increase during October bringing the total nearly up to yen 400,000,000, according to a report from the Finance Ministry.

The report gives an account of changes during October in the Treasury's Deposit Section. Its resources reached yen 7,099,000,000 at the close of October with an increase of yen 1,000,000. This increase was brought about principally by postal savings deposits, which reached yen 835,000,000 with an increase of yen 10,000,000. The section's reserves also increased by yen 3,000,000. However, on decreases in other items the net increase was reduced to 1,000,000.

With this increased capital on hand the section invested yen 5,000,000 more in British treasury Bills during October, the total put-out for the security thus reaching yen 191,000,000. The investment in China's notes, America's treasury bills and British exchequer notes remained unaltered, but the section invested yen. 29,000,000 released on the redemption of the Anglo-French joint loan in the French treasury bills. The total of the section's foreign investment accordingly reached yen 386,000,000.

U.S. MONEY MARKET SHOWS NO EASING

Many Urging Expansion Of Export Trade In Order To Stimulate Business

The monetary situation in Wall Street does not yet show and sign of easiness, the foreign trade balance estimated by the Federal Reserve Board at $23,000,000,000 apparently preventing it from developing that sign pending its settlement. Much capital is also going out of the money market, says a weekly financial cable to the Bank of Japan from New York, with the growing activity of grain shifting.

Call money is quoted at 9 to 10 percent per annum. Commercial bills are discounted at 7¾ percent per annum to 8 percent per annum. The reserve ratio of all Federal Reserve Banks is down to 43 percent. That of the New York Federal Reserve Bank is down to 38.6 percent. Reserve notes in circulation continue to increase and almost every day a new record is being created.

NEW YORK STOCK

In the New York stock market rails continue to be strong, but industrials are falling away to their new low records every day. The new issue of Treasury Bills is sold on the same conditions as for the last issue. The term of maturity is six months, the rate of interest being 5¾ percent per annum.

The decline in exchange on Europe has been more remarkable. The causes for this depreciation can be found in the active supply of grain bills in the market and the pending settlement of Foreign trade balance, which is estimated to be enormous.

The United States' exports to Europe for September amounted to $313,000,000, while imports from Europe reached $31,000,000. America's exports to Asia amounted to $37,000,000 as against $83,000,000 of imports. The importation from China and British India fell off to one-half of the previous months.

How to protect America's markets overseas is discussed with great eagerness and interest. The proposed Foreign Trade Financing Corporation with a capital of $100,000,000 is being formulated by a promotion committee.

Senator Harding in his electioneering speeches stood for protectionist policies in commerce and industry, but at the same time he frankly admitted that the pre-war platform of the Republicans can not be adopted in full. Many people urge that, now that America's prosperity depends on foreign commerce, more facility must be given to the import trade, as that is the short cut to the greater promotion of the export trade.

A New Situation

WITH the departure today for Canton of those three staunch leaders of the Southern, or Constitutionalist, Cause, Messrs. Sun Yat-sen, Wu Ting-fang and Tong Shao-yi, a new situation in the mysterious drama of Chinese politics begins to unfold. It is not a return to the situation that existed before these three Constitutionalists left Canton. Many things have happened to prevent a return to that situation. The Anfu club has been overturned and its power destroyed, and in the South, Tsen Chun-hsuan's military power has been broken. Out in Hunan, Wu Pei-fu, with his Chihli brigades, no longer squats between the Northern and Southern forces, maintaining the armistice.

And all this being so, no great prescience of Chinese politics is required in order to arrive at the conclusion that a new situation is presented which is full of possibilities for peace, or rather, we should say, reconstruction, for while the word peace is one of the most beautiful in the language, it has been overworked of late, both in China and in the world at large, and so has fallen somewhat into disrepute.

So far as China is concerned, it has not been the word to use when speaking of the political situation that has prevailed for the last few years. The North and South have been appointing peace delegates to hold peace conferences. But the North and South have not been fighting each other. They have been fighting among themselves. That is, the various factions in Canton have been fighting one another, while the factions up North have been fighting one another for the control of the Capital.

It has not been a civil war between the North and the South. As between the two sections it has been a quarrel of brothers, who have gone on living in the same house, but have not been in agreement as to how the house should be run. Trade has not been interrupted between the North and the South. Southern merchants are at liberty to travel and buy and sell in the North and to entertain their Northern brothers and to be entertained by them. And the same has been true of Northern merchants buying and selling their wares in the South.

But the great damage to the country, and the great drain on its resources of men and money has sprung from the maintenance of the huge armies with which the Northern and Southern leaders have surrounded themselves. War between these two factions of political leaders, further laying waste an already impoverished country and inflicting indescribable misery upon millions, when already millions are starving, is unthinkable.

Yet these armies are being maintained against each other, with no thought of real war, and at a cost, in wages, uniforms and equipment that would go far towards the relief of the forty million victims of the Northern famine. The position in which the leaders on both sides now find themselves is therefore no longer tenable. They have got to come to terms without coming to blows. And this being so, they have got to make the necessary concessions and adjustments, which will lead to the partial disbandment of the Chinese armies and to the abolishment of the tuchunate, for there is no use putting the latter before the former.

What China needs is not peace. For as we have pointed out, she has had that—at least to a considerable extent. What China needs is reconstruction. And instead of calling another so-called peace conference, a Commission on Reconstruction should be appointed. This need not take the proportions of a national convention. Three or four men from each side meeting in Shanghai could settle the preliminaries.

When faced by a common enemy or common peril, it is the duty of the leaders of any country to bury their domestic differences and fight side by side to save the country.

The common enemy of China is Japan. The common peril is famine. China is a huge country. It is as big as an ocean. And inasmuch as you can't build the ocean to fit your ship, you build your ship to fit the ocean.

RUFFIANLY SAILORS

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: About 9 p.m. Saturday night, being a passer-by, I saw three sailors, who came out from the Mascot Bar, No. 410 North Szechuen Road and purposely gave grave insult to two well-dressed young Chinese ladies, accompanied by an old woman. When they committed this act the old woman, being the ladies' mother, I think, tried to prevent them from doing worse, but was treated with scorn. There was no policeman. Nobody tried, or dared to check them. After the ladies reached their destination (Isis Theater), due to the big crowd gathering there, they set them free.

This is not an exceptional case. Of what nationality, these sailors are, I don't know. But at any rate, they spoke English and most English speakers are citizens of our friendly powers, America or Britain. They are noted for their deference to womanhood. And Chinese ladies are not excluded from women.

Besides this, acts such as I have described spoil a community and result in severe damage to the neighboring shops and buildings. If one would pass there one night, I am sure that he will understand all the situations which I have mentioned.

So in order to maintain the good feeling between the Chinese and Foreign settlers and the public welfare here I beg you, dear sir, to make a special effort to draw the attention of those, who are responsible for upholding righteousness and keeping good order in the settlement, to this situation.

Thanking you very much for the publication of this letter. Yours respectfully,

JEK YU-JEN.

Shanghai, Nov., 23, 1920.

APPLES

Man, you know, once ate roots, bark and bulky fibrous foods. Nature equipped him with internal capacity to winnow his nutriment out of a great mass of filling—"roughage," the doctors call it.

Nowadays man's food is condensed and refined and that great long intestine of his, a survival of primeval times, does not behave as it should.

It lacks "roughage."

That is one reason why it is good for well persons to eat plenty of apples.

Apples contain fiber, which serve as roughage.

They also contain iron, which makes you strong. That rusty patch on the cut surface of an apple shows the iron.

Apples have other food values and medicinal values, but, best of all, they taste good.

So if you can afford 'em, eat 'em. By a little co-operation in buying and storing them you ought now to be able to get a Winter's supply cheap.

SMILES

"George," she said, "I see those bills I handed you two weeks ago are still unpaid."

"Do they worry you?"

"Not at all. I just thought you might have something on your mind and would be troubled in trying to recall what it was."

DOORWAYS

Open the door,
And will it lead to Fame?
Open the door,
Or will it lead to Shame,
Proverty, Riches, Peace—or maybe War?
Open the door.

THE WEST DOOR

A stream of rose-colored light—a dainty vision in minon and furs—a whiff of violets, and "Mother's Darling" leaves the big house on the square to enter a limousine which carries her off to the theater.

THE EAST DOOR

Around the corner, huddled in the dark, unsavoury doorways, tattered women discuss the price of food and the difficulty in providing it for their families. The men stand sullen and resentful, incapable of bettering their conditions. On the steps sit children nursing babies nearly as big as themselves. The fragile little slippers of "Mother's Darling" which she will kick aside after wearing then twice, cost as much as would keep one of these pathetic groups for a week.

THE HOSPITAL DOOR

It opens to receive an accident case. The hall of the hospital reveals a dim light. An atmosphere of suffering surrounds the building and seems to subdue any thought of merriment in its vicinity.

THE HOTEL DOOR

To the student of psychology great opportunities in the pursuit of his hobby are presented in the lounge of a big hotel. Through the revolving doors the Seven Deadly Sins, but slightly camouflaged in gala attire, are continually passing in and out. Occasionally a stray virtue wanders in but fades away from sheer loneliness. Artfully shaded lights disguise the hard faces with an apparent softness, and merely pretty ones look beautiful. "Life is passing, let us enjoy it while we may," seems the general motto.

THE PRISON DOOR

In startling contrast the gloomy portals of the jail stand aloof—sinister and threatening. How many brave hearts have passed these iron-studded doors to emerge tortured in body and broken in spirit?

THE CINEMA DOOR

Dazzling lights brighten the doors of a cinema theater, and the waiting crowds eagerly discuss their favorites. All the little incorrect details meted out by a cynical editor to an Oliver Twist-like set of readers are vividly discussed among the "fans." "Yes, Eugene is a dear, but they do say"—and the feminine heads nod in horrified yet delighted wonder. And the lovers, who go not to see the pictures, but to hold hands and gaze at each other, take but a casual interest in the photos that line the walls.

THE RAILWAY DOOR

The doors of the railway station are packed with holiday makers, going and returning. Anxious parents trying to hail a cab, call a porter, collect luggage, count their belongings, and save the hope of the family from committing suicide under the wheels of the engine all at the same time. Timid old ladies fearful of a hold-up on the line harass the guard with a hundred questions.

THE DOOR OF HOPE

Perfect stillness—the moon's reflection on the calm waters of the lake—the smell of the earth—the dewdrops like diamonds shining upon the grass—the grief and sorrow and bustle of the world all forgotten and a Nirvana of peace!

Fairyland lies before the door of the caravan. "Tick tack! Tick tack!" The Leprechaun must be mending his shoes. To catch him unawares and force him to give up his crock of gold—what new door would this open?

THE LAST DOOR

The soul has run its course, and tired, broken, and timid, it knocks at Death's Door.

Where will it lead to? The Undiscovered Country from whose bourne no passenger returns!

Open the Door.
And will it lead to Fame?
Open the Door
Or will it lead to Shame,
Poverty, Riches, Peace—or maybe War?
Open the Door.

Political Philosophy Of Shinto

Religion Or Not Religion?—State As Theocracy

(Japan Advertiser)

The position of Shinto in the religious and political structure of Japan is one of the most interesting and least understood factors in the life of the Japanese nation. Dr. D. C. Holtom, in a recent lecture to the Asiatic Society, discussed the subject with great fulness and in the light both of legislation by the state and examination of its principles by philosophical writers. A summary of his views is given below.

One of the most noteworthy politico-ecclesiastical situations of history is that presented by developments in modern Shinto, wherein the Japanese Government has attempted to stabilise important political institutions and at the same time secure a form of religious adjustment by isolating Shinto from recognised religious bodies such as those of Buddhism and Christianity, thereby giving a certain measure of official sanction to the interpretation that Shinto is not a religion. The Meiji era witnessed the enactment of a series of laws which may be legitimately interpreted as an effort on the part of the Japanese Government to find a workable religious policy which, while preserving under direct State institutions regarded as contributory to the unification and discipline of popular sentiments of loyalty and patriotism, would yet make possible a fairly satisfactory disposition of the affairs of religious organisations outside of the official cult, and at the same time meet the pressure of inevitable modernising tendencies in the various departments of Japanese life induced by contacts with occidental culture.

RELIGION OR CULT?

The interplay of the three forces found in modernism, in the activity of non-Shinto religious bodies, and in the necessity of unifying the Japanese social mind by concentrating it on characteristic Japanese institutions, has produced the modern Shinto situation. This has caused difficult problems for the Japanese State. The effort to solve these problems has culminated in the complete seperation of the control of the Shinto shrines from the oversight of ordinary religious matters. In 1899 and 1900 the Japanese Government took the final step in carrying out the policy of isolating the political and social values of Shinto. Certain Government officials came to occupy the radical position that official Shinto was not a religion, an interpretation that some have maintained in spite of all difficulties right up to the present. The priests of Ise prepared the way in 1899 by taking the ground that Shinto was merely a cult-device for the preservation of veneration for ancestors and the maintenance of historical continuity in Japanese society. The Ise authorities made application to the Government for the right to abandon their status as a religious body and become a secular juridical person (Zaidan hojin) with the title "Reverential Representation Society of Jingu" (Juangu Hosai-kai) a request which was granted in September, 1899. Then under new Government regulations of 1900 the Bureau of Shrines and Temples of the Department of Home Affairs was divided into a Bureau of Shrines (Jinsha Kyoku) and a Bureau of Religions (Shukyo Kyoku). The former was put in charge of the official cult and the latter of Shinto sects, Buddhism and other religious bodies.

THE OFFICIAL SHRINES

Official shrines were declared to be national institutions of an ethical and historical character, and places where all Japanese subjects could offer reverence. Expenses connected with upkeep and ceremonial were to be borne, wholly or in part, by the central, provincial or local government. The ceremonies of official Shinto were nationanised as koku rei (national rites) and kokushiiki (national ceremonies). Subsequent events have proved that this "act of disestablishment" did not mark a decline in the fortunes of Shinto. The Japanese Government was carefully preserving all that was of real value to the State. This Shinto act of 1900 has involved much difficulty in actual practice, especially for non-Shinto bodies. For since the official Shrines are interpreted as centers of non-religious patriotic ceremonials in which all Japanese, regardless of religious affiliations, ought to be able to take part, then failure to do so becomes not simply an act of irreligion; it involves disloyalty to the State. True to such an interpretation the Minister of Education of the second Katsura cabinet gave orders that school teachers conduct their pupils in a body to public shrines and that they should do obeisance before the altars. This applied in certain cases even to Christian schools. The opposition that was created, however, led the Saionji Government, that followed to revoke the order and the Department of Home Affairs gave out a statement that the Katsura Ministry had made a mistake in its educational policy as related to shrines.

JAPANESE INTERPRETATION

Modern Japanese solutions of the Shinto problem resolve themselves into two classes of interpretation; (1) the nationalistic-ethical and (2) the nationalistic-religious. Under the first of these, the author remarks that there is hardly a subject in modern Japan that has received, at the hands of both political and educational authorities, the attention that has been accorded to socalled Kokumin-Dotoku (national morality). It is the fundamental motive of Japanese education. In the form of apologetic now under discussion Shinto becomes practically identical with Kokumin Dotoku, that is to say Shinto is now interpreted as either the system of national morality itself, or as the unique spirit which produces the system. It is a social and political ethic emerging from the peculiarities of Japanese psychology and history. It is identified with Japanese development from the beginning and is regarded as vitally necessary to the maintenance of the Japanese State. The position of this school is well set forth in the writings of Tanaka Yoshito, professor of the Shinto College (Kokugaku In) of Tokio. He expounds Shinto as the unique historical deposit of Japanese racial psychology. According to his argument, in spite of the fact that various religious cults and moral codes have existed in Japan from ancient times, Shinto alone expresses the true spirit of the Japan people. The essential meaning of Shinto is thus to be determined by a reference to the qualities of this spirit.

'YAMATO DAMASHII'

The heart of the cult is not religious at all in the ordinary sense; it is Yamato Damashii, the peculiar psychological endowment of the race. The question is immediately raised, what are the fundamental psychological characteristics of the Japanese people? They are, according to Tanaka, three in number: (a) An intellectual nature capacitating for orderliness and unification. (b) A vivacious and practical (lit. "this-worldly") emotional nature. (c) A disposition towards development and expansion. This Yamato Damashii is no recent and transient achievement; it has marked Japanese psychology from most ancient times and, thus deeply embedded in the spiritual depths of the race, its unchanging perpetuation throughout the future is guaranteed. "Thus both the basis and the norm for the activities of the Jap race have their origin in the example of our sacred ancestors." This is Shinto. The author deals also at length with the views of Marquis Okuma, of Inoue Tetsujiro and of the Christian apologist Tanaka Tatsu, who finds that ancient and modern scholars are at one in maintaining that the deities of Shinto are human beings.

NATIONALISTIC-RELIGION

The author turns to the consideration of the nationalistic-religious interpretation. The most elaborate attempts that have yet been made by any modern writers to set forth Shinto as a religion are undoubtedly those recently undertaken by Prof. Kakehi, of the Tokio Imperial University, and by his colleague Dr. Genchi Kato. In the treatment by Dr. Kakehi an effort is made to expand Shinto into a great all-inclusive world-religion, embracing within itself Buddhism, Confucianism, popular Shinto, Christianity, Taoism and Mohamedanism. Shinto, says Kakehi, "is the faith at the basis of all religions." "It is the religion of religions." A perusal of Kakehi's' discussion soon reveals the fact that, deeply interested as he is in religion, he is still more interested in politics. The world-wide expansion of Shinto which he contemplates is not the application of a generous religious syncretism; it involves at its very center an extension of the Japanese political system in which special importance is attached to the incultation of respect for the jure divino claims of the Japanese sovereignty together with reverence for the Imperial line as descended from the gods.

PHILOSOPHIC BACKGROUND

This general philosophical background is thoroughly essential to Kakehi's entire politico-religious construction; in other words the idea of a static absolute is vital in his system in order that he may secure an absolute guarantee for the finality of certain institutions of State in which he is interested. It is altogether appropriate and expected that the closing words of his entire lengthy discussion should be an appendix the chief burden of which is the fixed nature of ultimate reality. "Reality is a static thing (fudo) that expresses itself by means of motion," and again "it is dynamic force itself expressing a static reality." The most important expression of reality is life, which is defined as a ceaseless activity that insists on its own existence and which expresses itself in an effort to gain new life. Human life is but a manifestation of divine life.

POSITION OF THE EMPEROR

The next important point to note is the central place occupied by the Japanese emperor in Kakehi's construction. The emperors of Japan, reaching in one long unbroken line back to the beginning of life, as expressed in the Japanese race, constitute the temporal extension of Ama-terasu-O-mi-Kami. This deity was the great ancestress of the Japanese sovereigns; she willed to send her grandson, Ninigi-no-mikoto, into the "central land of reed-plains" (Japan) to dwell therein and rule over it. In such a way Imperial rights of dominion over the Japanese islands rest on the unalterable command of deity. Throughout his discussion Kakehi's object seems to be two-fold: (1) To strengthen Japanese national spirit by supplying a religious basis for a confidence of superiority as a chosen people; (2) to utilise the popular belief in Shinto as the basis of a political apology for Tenno Shiken Setsu ("Theory of Imperial Sovereignity") with a world-wide application.

THE STATE AS THEOCRACY

Following this review of Dr. Kakehi's treatment the author passes to Dr. Kato whose views he sums up shortly; as an exposition of the Japanese State as a theocracy in which a divine being manifested in human form exercises the prerogatives of ultimate control. Shinto is the cult of religious loyalty to the divine Imperial line and the sacred Japanese institutions which it centralises. Dr. Kato takes up the matter of the position of the shrines in the thought world of Japan. Are the shrines merely cult centers where the moral sentiments of the Japanese people are crystalised? Are they simply social and historical institutions where the great and virtuous of the past are honored and remembered? Such a point of view Dr. Kato emphatically denies; for when we consider the historical origin of the shrines and their function in Japanese society we find that "they are sacred spots where deity is supplicated and where prayers for the future are offered." The great spring and harvest festivals, for example, cannot possibly be legitimately considered as mere secular ceremonials. Those connected with the planting of crops presuppose the existence of supernatural power to which appeal is made for good harvests; those in the autumn contain the primary elements of thanksgiving to Kami for blessings received. Hence "we cannot pass over the fact that these ceremonials are accompanied by a faith in the divine aid of a great spiritual power. The shrines cannot be limited as being merely structures where past heroes are commemorated in an ethical sense. The affairs of the festivals are religious and the ceremonials themselves are pure religion. To regard these as other than religious is indeed a biased interpretation and must be pronounced an extreme misrepresentation of the shrines." Although Kakehi and Kato go beyond most Japanese interpreters in the philosophical elaboration which they extend to Shinto they are far from standing alone in their religious interpretation of the Imperial House; they represent a school of Shinto which must be taken into serious consideration in any effort to understand either Japanese religious history or her political development.

MEANING OF KAMI

The diversity of opinion regarding the nature of the idea of deity in Shinto is reflected in the variety of views advocated by different scholars respecting the etymology and proper meaning of the word Kami, it is safe to say that there is no other term in the Japanese language with such a rich and multiform content; nor is there another term with respect to which translators, both native and foreign, have encountered such apparently impassable difficulties. This is dealt with at considerable length. Derivations from forms meaning "pure" and "bright" are reviewed and then is taken up the usage of the word in which the idea of superiority is primary. Kami means "above." Since the time of the great revival of Shinto, beginning with Arai, this has been the most orthodox statement of the term; i.e., the diversified meanings of Kami can all be carried back to this same form with the primary content of superiority. The important question opens up not whether, upon examination of the historical usages of the term, cases can be found in which kami must be interpreted in the sense of "superior" or "above;" this much is granted; but whether or not this view does full justice to the original and characteristic religious conceptions and practices of the Japanese people. The possibility exists that kami interpreted as meaning "above" indicates merely a derived and not an original usage and is to be understood only in relationship with a more comprehensive point of view.

The author summarises that kami is fundamentally a term that distinguishes between a world of sacred things thought of as filled with mysterious power, and a world of things that lie within the control of ordinary technique; the unique object of experience—whether storm, strange tree, grotesque stump, stone of odd shape, uncanny animal, thunder, lightning, skilful hunter or mighty chief—whatever it may be—throws the attention into activity., an emotional reaction occurs, a "watch out" attitude is induced and eventually the intelligence sets to work to establish some sort of a vital equilibrium; since there is no place for the unique object in the ordinary well-known everyday world it is put in a sacred world and treated with a special technique; it is kami. Applying the results of his investigation the author concludes that the conception of particular deities found in the modern official cult presents no fundamental departures from what is met with at the beginning of Japanese history. The personalised kami, whether deified human beings or forces and objects of nature, are alike regarded as living agents in a superhuman spirit world.

IS SHINTO A RELIGION?

Is Shinto, then, a religion? The main results of the discussion may be presented in the form of three propositions. (1) The fundamental idea of Shinto as expressed in the term kami, rather than being essentially different from what is found in ordinary religions, is exactly that of early religious philosophy elsewhere. (2) In its ancestral theory of the great deities of the ancient Shinto pantheon, modern official Shinto only repeats features found in other politico-religious development. In so far as Japanese ancestralism manifests affinities with what is regarded as a genuine religious world-view elsewhere, it must be regarded as a religion. (3) The conception of ancestral kami found in official Shinto is not merely that of superior human beings who are commemorated for services rendered to the States and to society, but that of actually existing supernatural agencies.

Is the Japanese Government to be charged with a deliberate deception which aims by political manipulation to preserve a State religion in actual practice, while at the same time making a theoretical denial of the religious status of the official cult? As a partial answer the author declares that official Shinto is the expression of a native faith in which officialdom itself shares. Attitude of reverence and worship toward the extraordinary members of human society, the assignment of the genealogical connections of such personages to a divine ancestry, and feeling of racial sacredness are not things that need to be taught to the Japanese people; they are old in the Yamato race as they are indeed in other peoples. This racial consciousness found its center in the Imperial House and here could only gain adequate relief in a religious explanation of both national achievement and imperial leadership. But this situation did not create a new religion. Again how does it happen that Government officials participate in an explanation that Shinto is not a religion? The explanation which can with all legitimacy be advanced is that Japanese politicians in an attempt to adjust a very difficult situation between politics and religion have simply manifested an ignorance as to what constitutes religion on the one hand and as to the actual religious elements of Shinto on the other.

That the Japanese Government is inconsistent here is beyond all doubt; yet it is an inconsistency that time alone can resolve, for although the State finds it impossible under existing conditions to recognise Shinto as a State religion it yet finds it equally impossible to repudiate the great support which it gives to the affairs of State. The Japanese Government is in a position to permit private agencies to conduct an educational program calculated to build up in the nation an attitude towards Shinto which, while preserving all that is of actual in the old, will neither do violence to conscience nor prove incompatible with the findings of modern scientific investigation. This brings us to the consideration of the future of Shinto; what shall make up the sacred world of Shinto? The answer to this question lies in the future and must be given by the Japanese themselves. Certain it is that a movement toward readjustment and reinterpretation has already set in. The great organising concept in Shinto history is the idea of sacredness; a kami is a sacred object; a kami person is a sacred-person. The content of the sacred world may change; indeed as the native world-view gives place to the scientific world-view it must change; but loyalty to sacred things must be eternal.

Mr. B. Baer

DO YOU WANT IT BACK?

Do the saloonatics want the saloon back? The high license tumor that grew on the corner of your neighborhood? And, like the tumor, it grew and flourished, sucking its power from the body it grew on.

Do you want back the sober bartender stretching an octave on the cash register with your jack? Does the thought of delirium tremens, busted shoes and patched trousers make you homesick?

Do you want Jazzbo's Silver Dollar Saloon back on your daily menu? Remember the floor was spangled with big, iron bova? It was a beautiful floor, but tough on your feet. Isn't it better to get corns on your hands from holding onto your money than bunions on your feet from walking on it?

After the cash register had played taps in honor of your last dime, could you reach down and grab one of those silver boys? Try and do it.

Remember the famous Shomaker's in Washington, celebrated as the birthplace of the gin rickey? The birthplace of the gin rickey and the deathplace of the gin rickey drinkers. Want that back?

The distilled bloom of alcoholic youth is fading from your nose. Do you think you are being cheated out of the capillary tremors that used to make your skin twitch like an army mule trying to shake off a hoss fly that ain't on him? Want that back?

Going over Niagara Falls in a barrel isn't as dangerous as the little Niagara that used to come out of the barrel. You got your falls later. Do you miss the old headaches that used to make you feel like Hog Island at the height of the rivet season? Want 'em back?

Kultur's use of liquid fire during the war was an awful thing, but there ain't any difference between liquid fire in battle and liquid fire in a bottle. Do you want to be scorched again?

There is no deadlock between right and wrong. A plebiscite of the alumni of Keeley College would show that not one of them wants to go back for a post graduate course.

The man who doesn't want the saloon back is the same man who hated to see it go.

He's cured.

Heart Failure Is Verdict On Death Of Boy On Vessel

(Reuter's Service)

Tokio, Nov. 23.—It is stated that the post mortem examination of the Japanese boy peddler, who died after having been kicked by the second mate on board the Persian Prince, shows that the immediate cause of death was heart failure, following upon the assault.

The mate has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter. The British Consulate-General has protested against his arrest.

A British doctor who attended the autopsy says that death was due to the boy's weakness more than to the kicking.

Japanese Control Election In Korea

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, November 19.—The Cabinet has approved of the election dates suggested by the Ministry of Interior, which is in charge of elections, as follows; Preliminary elections, corresponding to primaries, or nominations, for members of the House of Representatives, on March 1, 1921. Final election for members of House, April 1. Election of Senators (without preliminary elections) on April 20. Elections in Mongolia, Chinghai and Tibet are to be held ten days later.

Seoul, Nov. 23.—In the elections for the Korean Prefectural assembly, the returns show that for Seoul 18 Japanese and 12 Koreans were elected, and in other important districts 94 Japanese and 36 Koreans. The population has been rather apathetic towards the election.

Outlaws' Homes Are Burned By Koreans

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 23.—It is officially reported from Chientao that the Chinese troops have been requisitioning from the population, and that the latter dread the advent of additional Chinese, preferring that the Japanese should remain.

It is reported that the Koreans in the Chientao region who became Christianised are now recanting en masse to their old religion, viz., Seirinkyo.

A community of 1,500 Koreans in Chientao opposite Keiko have burned the homes of ten outlaws with the permission of the Chinese.

Enemy Property Is Sold Slowly By Japs

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Nov. 23.—According to the Yamato, the sale of enemy property in Japan is proceeding slowly, owing to the economic depression. Property to the value of Yen 10,000,000 has been sold up to the present, and Yen 13,000,000 worth remains to be sold. The prices realised are much lower than were anticipated. Eleven hundred patents have been offered for sale, resulting in 700 bids, but only two sales.

Early Cabinet Fall Predicted At Vienna

(Reuter's Service)

Vienna, Nov. 20.—The Cabinet which Dr. Mayer, the Christian Socialist leader, has succeeded in forming, is composed of four politicians and six bureaucrats. The Pan-Germans refused to take any share in office, but have promised the new Cabinet formal support. The Viennese newspapers regard the new Ministry as mediocre, and consider that its life will be of short duration.

Londen, Nov. 21.—The Vienna correspondent of the Observer learns that the British and French Governments have agreed to help Austria on her feet again.

Soviet Leaders In Drive On Armies Of Opposing Force

(Reuter's Service)

London, Nov. 21.—Having annihilated Gen. Wrangel's forces, the Soviet armies are turning their attention to the two other anti-Bolshevist forces led respectively by Gen. Petiura and Gen. Balahovitch.

A Moscow wireless communique records that the former has received a bad drubbing from the Reds, who have captured Proskuroff, an important town, to the east of the old Galician border. It adds that Balahovitch's men, who are in the region north-west of Kieff, have been pressed back towards the River Pripet, and 1,440 of their number have been captured.
